

ARMISTICE SERVICE IN LEGION HALL 10:45 a.m. MONDAY, NOVEMBER 11th

NEW CLUB CAFE
HAS GRAND OPENING

The opening of the new Club Cafe on Thursday last was a gala event.

Mr. Pond Sr. and his son Jim were hosts to all Irma and district. The front counter was gay with bouquets of flowers from fellow tradesmen, well-wishers, while coffee, tea and doughnuts were served to all comers with chocolate bars for all the children.

A large number of both old and young came to enjoy Ma Pond's hospitality and to wish the New Cafe every success.

Mr. Pond and his son came to Irma in May 1956 and opened the old Club Cafe at that time. It is worthy of note that they served our community faithfully and well and that for 31 years and 5 months the Club Cafe was open seven days a week from approximately 9 in the morning up till late at night. Never one of all those years was the cafe closed.

The new building, which was constructed by veteran carpenter Mr. James Craig, assisted by Mr. Albert Knudson and others, is a fine addition to our town with its modern kitchen, beautiful tiled floors, pale green walls, horseshoe counters and booths.

At ordinary times 64 persons can be seated but the extra floor space permits the use of more tables, bringing up the seating capacity to 80.

Irma folk wish every success to the Club Cafe and to Mr. Pond Sr., Mr. Pond Jr., Mrs. Pond, daughter Jeannette who is training as a nurse in the city, and to Laraine and Dennis still at home.

For we ourselves also were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful and hating one another. But after that the kindness and love of God our Savior toward man appeared.

Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which He shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Savior; That being justified by His grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life. Titus 3:3-7.

Glen-Coa Gleanings

(Too late for last week)

If we winter really come this time? We are sorry to report that there are a few in our community who did not complete their harvesting. We trust that they may be able to do so even yet before winter descends upon us.

Mr. Oren Spring of Drayton Valley spent the weekend at his parental home here.

Our district is sorry to see good friends and well-wishers leave after spending a long time in our midst. So it is with deep regret we say good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. Merle Knudson, Jory and Lyle, as they leave this weekend to make their new home in Red Deer. The very best wishes of all go with them. We will be glad to see them back now and again for a visit.

Eather Fluevog is a mumps patient this week.

The flu is making its rounds in various homes too.

Again we had a beautiful weekend and some of our neighbors took the opportunity to travel farther afield. Mr. and Mrs. L. Peterson, Carol and Terry drove to Veteran to spend Sunday, while Sandra visited her cousin Jo Anne Gulbransen.

Mr. Carl Guzman, Laraine and Little Harold went to Edmonton for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Erickson and boys, accompanied by Mr. E. R. Erickson, drove to Edmonton on Sunday to visit relatives in the city and to attend the great Reformation rally in the Jubilee Auditorium.

Mr. Erling Nilson also spent the week-end in the city.

Miss Lily MacKay had several days at home last week, a respite from her nursing duties.

On Wednesday evening of last week practically the whole community met at the H. Fuder home where the Merle Knudson family were visiting, to spring a surprise farewell party on them.

The evening was spent quietly in conversation and singing, an impromptu program. The first item was a duet by Erling and Gordon. Lily and Eunice sang a duet also, as did Pastor and Mrs. Magee. The Little Larson girls sang a trio especially for us.

We were happy to have Pastor and Mrs. Magee with us. Pastor Magee read a portion of scripture and spoke a few very valuable words to our departing friends. On behalf of the Sunday School Mrs. Fluevog presented a gift to Iona, and Mrs. Larson gave one to Lyle. Then Torleif Larson, and Dorothy, their friends in this district. They were asked to buy something for their home in remembrance of their neighbors. Merle spoke a few words of thanks and Dorothy added her warmest appreciation. A delightful lunch ended the evening. As each one departed they wished the Knudsons every blessing of everything in their new venture.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Knudson, Iona and Lyle left on Saturday of last week for their new home in Red Deer.

WITH THE
District Agriculturist

By J. S. Duncan

Need a New Bull?

Are you going to need a new bull for next summer? If you are then now is a good time to look around for one. There are several reasons for this. First is that you can see a bull now as he comes in from the range, and you can also see calves from him if he is a proven bull. The calf crop is probably the best basis on which to choose a bull. At this time of year, you can buy a good proven bull, quite cheaply and winter him yourself, this means that you are getting the pick of the bulls, instead of taking what is left next May or June.

The Department of Agriculture Livestock Improvement Policy is available for cattlemen who want some assistance in getting a good bull. This policy pays ten per cent of the cost of the bull, and the transportation when the bull is chosen by a department buyer. Application forms are available at this office.

Ventilation is Important

The single most common fault in both hog barns and poultry houses is lack of adequate ventilation. Lack of ventilation means that it is impossible to keep bedding dry in those buildings, and damp bedding leads to sickness, and disease in both hogs and chickens. If your building is an old one, that is difficult to ventilate remember that it is better to keep a building dry and cool, than to have it damp and warm.

Fan ventilation is more effective and easier than the natural draft system. There is a good booklet on "Barn Ventilation" available at this office.

Royal Winter Fair

There are some farmers from this district taking advantage of the reduced railway fares, to go east this fall. The trip is well worth while.

F.W.U.A. President
Gives Vivid Account
Of Recent Trip

(From The Viking News)

An audience numbering about 150 greeted Mrs. C.T. Armstrong, president of the FWUA, in the Brock theatre last Sunday evening and heard her give a most interesting account of her recent visit as delegate to the Associated Conference of Women of the World held in Colombo. Twenty-six countries were represented at the 2 week conference. She was accompanied by her husband who took a large number of pictures which were shown on the screen and explained by Mrs. Armstrong.

The entire trip was made by plane and included such countries as Ceylon, the Holy Land, Italy, Hawaii, Switzerland, India, France, Australia, New Zealand, England and Scotland.

The delegates found the July weather intensely warm. Most of the countries visited were experiencing a drought and crops were suffering from lack of rain. Agricultural conditions are quite different than in Canada. The chief crops are rice, tea, pineapple and tropical fruits, except in New Zealand and Australia where most crops are similar to ours in Alberta.

The association conference of women of the world dealt chiefly with the health, educational and welfare of the peoples of the countries represented. Mrs. Armstrong stated that conditions were improving under the Colombo plan to which Canada subscribes, but the people were not as progressive and ambitious as they might be. Medical missionaries were making progress in introducing health measures among the poorer classes, also agricultural information and instruction was being given the natives.

Throughout the conference the delegates attended several social functions where they met and heard the leading citizens of the various countries. The Holy Land was of special interest to Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong who visited both the old and new Jerusalem. Jerusalem retains many of the places mentioned in biblical history. The visit to Rome was a memorable one where they had the opportunity to see the Vatican and the ruins of the coliseum where the ancient Romans held their games and tortured their prisoners by throwing them to the lions.

Her entire address was interesting and educational, and the first hand information about the countries visited gave the audience a real vivid account of the nations now in the news from day to day in these troubled times.

Several parties were present from Killam, Sedgewick, Hardisty and Ström, to hear the speaker.

Mrs. Cecil Keast, member of the FWUA board of directors, introduced the speaker. The meeting opened with the singing of O Canada and closed with God Save The Queen. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were entertained at lunch at the H. G. Thunell residence following the meeting.

Space-savers

Many steps may be saved if cabinets for things in constant use are near the stove and sink. It is with this in mind that these 20 space-savers were planned. They are designed to fit common sizes of pots and pans and the usual seasoning containers. Some are placed on the shelves and others are fitted to cabinet doors.

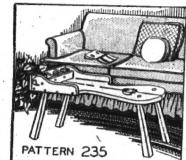

CABINET SPACE-SAVERS
PATTERN 413

The length measurements are variable to meet special requirements and the shelf racks may be arranged in different ways as needed. They may be made of scraps as pieces are all small; and are put together with brads and glue. The pull-out pan rack is on rollers. The terraced dish rack gives easy access to every thing. Pattern 413 is 40c. The Kitchen Handles Packet of its projects to save steps will be mailed for $1.75 additional.

Throwing a long pass

The long pass is one of the most effective weapons in any football team's arsenal. But it is seldom executed effectively at the high school level, either because the passer isn't strong enough to get off a good throw or because there are too many defects in his throwing action for accuracy, timing and distance.

Here are the most common faults:

1. Not using the forward step properly. When the pass is to be a long one, the step has to be much faster and longer than for the short or medium pass. The foot must be planted firmly and facing directly ahead in the direction of the throw to give accuracy. The knee should straighten and lock as the weight swings forward so that it becomes a fulcrum on which the body pivots forward with a whipping action.

2. Keeping the elbow too close to the side. The elbow should be kept wide so that the arm is parallel to the ground from the elbow to the shoulder as it is whipped through. The elbow leads, coming through first to provide that last-minute whip of the forearm.
3. Sliding the hand down and to the side. Many passers "cut" the ball in this way in an attempt to make it spiral. But this detracts from the propulsion of the ball. The passer must learn to throw straight through the ball.
4. Tensing up in the effort to throw for distance. Tension spoils control and power. The passer must concentrate on relaxation when he is trying to throw long.
5. Not enough strength. To build up the key muscles, the passer should:

- A. Practice throwing from a kneeling position. Throw to a teammate about 20 yards away gradually increasing the distance. The passer should have a good session of this at every workout because it throws all the throwing load on the arm and shoulder muscles, giving them an extra build-up.

- B. Lie on his back with as heavy a barbell as he can handle. Press it into the air directly over the shoulders to arm's length. Holding it in this position, move the shoulders up, forward and back 15-20 times.

- C. Stand holding a heavy dumbbell overhead in one hand. Keeping inside of elbow close to the head, move dumbbell as far down the back as possible, bending at the elbow. Lift it directly overhead and repeat 15-20 times.

Was it a rat or a muskrat

People driving down a street about 10 p.m. Friday evening noticed what they thought to be a rat in the vicinity of the High River Hardware. This creature took alarm and ran along the curb heading east. If it was a rat, it was a big well-fed one with long skinny rat tail. Other people on that street claim to have caught glimpses of this same rodent scurrying under cover.

From time to time there are rumors of rats being seen at various towns and as a rule they turn out to be muskrats. In this instance it is quite possible it was a muskrat coming up from the river. However the muskrat does exist, and the public is asked to contact an official of the Department of Agriculture if they see anything they think is a rat. Mr. Amos Dowling is the pest officer in the Foothills M.D., but he is ill at present and Charlie Hartell is his substitute. Or C. E. Kauch, D.A., would be another person who might be informed. Any lead can then be followed up, and if it turns out to be a muskrat, so much the better. — The Times, High River, Alta.—September 5, 1957.

BIKES GALORE—Over a hundred bicycles were entered in the Playground Stampede held last Friday at the Queen Elizabeth Playgrounds. Curlers to talk artificial ice

Final decision on possible purchase of an artificial ice plant to serve the curling rink is to be made at the annual general meeting of the Estevan Curling Club. The meeting is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed by a social evening in the club rooms.

Other business to be placed before this annual meeting is the election of officers and complete reports on the operations of the club for the past year.

The artificial ice plant purchase is a project proposed some time ago by club officials and a great deal of information has been gathered by the officials in the past several months.

Details of financing and operating such a plant will be discussed at this meeting. — The Mercury, Estevan, Sask.—September 12/57.

Three new policemen in Innisfail for duty

There are three new policemen in Innisfail. They are not members of the famed "Mounties". They are dressed in blue. Best of all is the fact that they have taken up a permanent patrol beat in front of the new school and throughout the year, silent and with a smile they will be urging motorists to drive carefully and slowly in the school zone.

Motorists, each year, by police, teachers and school board members are urged to drive slowly and carefully in the school zone.

In case you are of the opinion that driving slowly and carefully in the school zone is a lot of nonsense, we would suggest that you park in front of the school as classes are released for lunch or in the evening. Those "sweet little jokers" in the early grades—even the veterans of high school come a shooting out of the doors like "bullets". They need and deserve the extra care of a "good driver".

OUTDOOR LIFE—One of the big attractions at the Royal Canadian Army Cadet Corps camp at Dundurn, Sask., each summer is the week they spend in the tent camp, living outdoors as much as possible. Here three youths wash up before beginning another phase of their instruction which takes a total of seven weeks. Left to right are Cadets R. J. Keller, Wadens; D. M. Hensberger and B. C. PLAYS on a shoestring

Dear Bonnie:

I am most anxious to know which play you have chosen. Do let me know as soon as possible. Of course, you are inexperienced and may feel a bit inadequate. But we have all had to start somewhere to gain experience. A few have been fortunate enough to go to a theatre school or take summer school classes. But others just read books and by trial and error, have earned their spurs in Theatre. However, I am going to tell you where you and other less-experienced directors might get help. The Saskatchewan Regional Drama Council and the Saskatchewan High School Drama Association have representatives at various points in the Province. They would be happy to give any help they can when requested. If they can't answer your questions, they have sources of reference and can advise you where to get help. Below is a list of these people. D.C. stands for Drama Council and SHSDA stands for Saskatchewan High School Drama Association.

Festivals are arranged by both groups. The Saskatchewan Regional Festival is to be held in Regina February 28 to March 3, with an British adjudicator present. At least, four community theatre groups will compete. The High School Festivals are held on a district basis with winners proceeding to semi-finals, dates to be announced.

Newly voices in your Group

Just a word here about newcomers to your group. They cannot be anything but uneasy about intruding—just like Daniel walking into the Lion's den. Silent figures, immobile as stone, while one (you) with a glass stare fixed on someone walking around with a book in hand, waves the new member to a side seat without speaking. Curiously enough every fresh member doesn't want to be the leading actor necessarily. Some join for the technical side. And the majority of them come to find friendship and a chance to share a common interest in the theatre. If they are welcomed by a friendly soul, accepted and given a job, they will be content for a time until they get to know you and you get to know them.

Publishers and Agents

After selecting your play, order enough copies for each member of your cast and one extra for a PROMPT BOOK. This letter to the publisher or agent holding the Rights to the play, should ask for permission to rehearse and perform the play. Give the dates of performance and promise to forward the royalty five days before the date set. Thus keeping good relations with the publisher.

Making a Prompt Book

Before calling for try-outs to cast the play, the director and assistant, (prompter) should have spent considerable time studying the play and preparing their prompt book. There are several methods, but the one I like best is to secure a book store a scrapbook, bottle of paste, a razor blade and a steel-edged ruler. Then sit down at the shaven table and proceed as follows:

1. Open the play script at the middle, remove the staples, separate each page keeping in numerical number. 2. Paste the front cover of the script on the cover of the scrapbook. 3. On inside front page, paste cast of characters and picture of stage setting

if there is one. 4. Floor plan should be on the next page. If not in script, draw a small one using scale of 1/4" to a foot. 5. A play analysis should be typed or written in considerable detail and pasted on next page, using these headings (a), story of play (50-100 words); (b) Premise, what argument is contained in the play, theme, goal, central idea, driving force, etc., and state it objectively. I like the word 'premise' because it contains all the elements the other words try to express and is less subject to misinterpretation. For instance, the premise of "Romeo and Juliet", a play dealing with love, might be 'Great love defies even death'.

Macbeth and Lady Macbeth, in "Macbeth", in their ruthless ambition to achieve their goal, decide to kill King Duncan, then further murders until Macbeth perishes how he lived—by the sword. The premise might be 'Ruthless ambition leads to its own destruction'.

In "Othello", the lead of the same name, kills his love Desdemona through jealousy and then kills himself. The premise might be 'Jealousy destroys itself and the object of its love'.

Sometimes by searching you will find a line in the play which states the purpose of the play, called the premise.

However, back to making the Prompt Book. 6. A colored sketch of the setting might be inserted so that the cast will have a visual picture of the stage as it will appear.

Prompt Book
page 7. Then might come the casting sheet which can be gathered from the script by careful reading. Here is one from a play I produced.

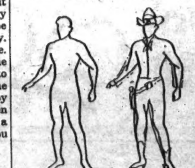

Josephina—maid; five feet tall; weight, 135 lbs.; 40 years old; fat, short, dark-skinned, high pitched voice; garrulous, earthy, speaks rapidly; Spanish accent (though can be acquired to pass); excitable; able to put on airs; loves family she works for; must be able to scream convincingly.

Madge Stevens—Mother of family; 37 years old; 5 ft. 5 inches; weight, 140 lbs.; good looking, charming, a little dull in comprehension sometimes, occasionally sentimental; good manners.

Ben Stevens—Father; 45 years old; 5 ft. 10 inches; dark-muscular, energetic outdoor type; easy movements; charming gentleman. If possible there must be a father-son resemblance. Have the ability to quickly change from a brisk, business voice to gentle family voice.

The other characters are listed as above. A wise director will try to fill the physical characteristics first and then try to train the character in voice, deportment and other necessary points.

8. A summary of costume requirements should then be noted on next page and a copy handed to costume mistress in order that she can begin work at once. If possible, draw small figures like the accompanying illustration for each character. Draw in the costumes in color and paste on next page and labelled.

9. There should be several make-up discussions and then a list of numbers of greatest utility to be used for each character supervisor in the Prompt Book. A supervisor should be appointed to assist in making-up. But in well-trained theatre groups, each character learns to apply his own make-up.

10. Now the director is ready to place the pages of the script in the Prompt Book. Lay first page of script on next page of scrapbook as close to the center as possible and draw a line around the edge of the script. Remove script. Measure in half an inch from the lines you have drawn and draw another set of lines. Place steel-edged ruler along this second line and with razor blade, cut along the line. Lift out the paper cut and you should have a

Herbert now has modern hotel

The Sunset Hotel, operated by Dave Schwan, his son Victor; dead, Violet Svetitschnoff's mother now in business. Located on the Trans-Canada Highway the new Hotel presents an imposing sight from the outside, and the inside is a very creditable job which should find favor with the travelling public.

With five acres of parking space available, parking will present no problem. The hotel has 30 rooms, 12 feet square, modern in every detail, right down to the plug-ins for electric razors. A large, single-story building, all rooms are outside rooms with thermo-pane glass windows. Six thousand feet of plumbing makes it modern in every respect. Fire exits are strategically located. It is floored with battlement linoleum throughout.

The spacious lounge portion of the hotel is tastefully decorated, with a very large 'Futura Mural' depicting a rocky mountain scene eliciting much favorable comment. The modern restaurant will seat 30 people.

The proprietors state that the new hotel will be open 24 hours a day for 365 days a year. — The Herald, Herbert, Sask. — September 12, 1957.

Children to school at Punichy

Two large Saskatchewan government buses were in town on Saturday to convey some 70 children from the James Smith Indian Reserves at Fort a la Poudre to Punichy where they will attend school for the coming term. This was an increase of 37 over the 43 who attended school from here last year. The Post was advised. It was stated that the Reserve schools being crowded necessitated a larger number going to Punichy this year.

School was delayed in starting at Punichy this year and it is understood that the children will remain there throughout the Christmas holidays, returning home the end of June next year. — The Post, Kinsington, Sask. — September 11, 1957.

Minburn-Vermilion
Health Unit No. 12.

News Report from Edmonton

By Ken Mason

EDMONTON — Hon. Dr. J. Donovan Ross, Alberta's new minister of health, is a politician more or less by accident. Five years ago he had no idea of entering public life, and he knew no more than the average citizen about the philosophies of the Social Credit party which forms Alberta's government.

In fact, he was all set to wind up his thriving medical practice in Edmonton and move to Jasper (because he likes the mountains) when a friend telephoned one night in February of 1952 and suggested he run for the Legislature.

"I was sort of floored," he recalls. "I talked it over with my wife, my parents and my friends. Surprisingly, many of them thought it was a good idea. Then I spoke to Premier Manning. In August of 1952 I was elected."

That's the story of the political career of Joseph Donovan Ross, family doctor in five years of public life he has moved into one of the most important portfolios of the provincial cabinet, heading a department which spends millions of dollars every year to administer a mammoth public health program.

It came as no major surprise when Premier Manning called on Dr. Ross to take over on the retirement of Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, who headed the health department for 22 years. The only unexpected thing was the timing. Even Dr. Ross says he expected Dr. Cross to remain in office until the next election.

The new minister says, the toughest part of the decision to become a full-time politician was losing the associations and close friendships developed since 1938 when he began his practice in Edmonton after graduating in medicine from the U of A.

When I called to interview him in his spacious office in the administration building, he had a stack of 40 or 50 letters from patients, congratulating him but at the same time chiding him gently for leaving them without a family doctor.

The slight, soft-spoken minister is a hard worker and should be a valuable addition to the cabinet. He's a man with ideas of his own about many things, and has proven that he can be broken when the occasion demands.

He has strong ideas about the practice of medicine. He regards it as a high calling and deprecates the tendency to regard it as just another way to make a living. The trend toward specialization frightens him, and he can't say enough about the valuable contribution of the old-fashioned general practitioner.

He has demonstrated in the Legislature that his views on liquor are quite broad and in sharp contrast to those of Premier Manning and other cabinet colleagues. He is not a teetotaler, and believes education is needed to teach the public how to use liquor without abusing it.

Even before he joined the Social Credit party he admired the province's health program, and he isn't likely to introduce major changes. He believes in the idea of free treatment and assistance for long-term, extraordinary illnesses which can cause financial catastrophe for the average family.

These are the type of illnesses which require big hospitals, elaborate facilities and trained staff which only a government can provide. Polio, tuberculosis and cancer are examples, and free treatment has been available for years.

Dr. Ross says he has one major problem to tackle, and that is mental health. He believes there should be more research, and emphasis on preventive measures by early diagnosis. It may be significant that 22 years ago when Dr. Cross was sworn into office he regarded mental health as one of the biggest problems.

Since joining the party, Dr. Ross has read up on Social Credit theories and is convinced they are sound. In addition, he believes Social Credit as a movement is closer to the people. He has an answer to criticism about mixing religion and politics. He simply asks the critic if he would support a party which denies the importance of religion.

"As a doctor I know the importance of the spiritual side of life," he says. "I think religion, in a very broad sense, must have a place in public affairs."

Dr. Ross, the father of seven children, is a veteran of active service with the navy, a founder of the Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta and, in his spare time, an enthusiastic outdoorsman who enjoys hunting, fishing and horseback riding.

Co-operative Refinery Planning Proposed By U.F.A. Co-op

At a meeting of the Executive of United Farmers of Alberta Co-operative Limited, held in Calgary this week, the making of a refinery planning program was discussed. Certain proposals resulting from this discussion will be presented to the Board of U.F.A. Co-op and to the Annual Meeting for consideration.

The annual meeting will be held on November 13 and 14 in the Palliser Hotel in Calgary, at which time the 40 elected delegates representing the members of U.F.A. Co-op will be in attendance. In preparation for the Annual Meeting the executive members considered the auditor's statement for the past year and were gratified to observe the substantial increase in the earnings of U.F.A. Co-op. It is expected that these increased earnings will be reflected in an increased patronage dividend rate.

One of the featured speakers at the Annual Meeting this year will be Mr. Arnold Platt, president of the U.F.A. Taking part in the executive meeting were George Church, Balzac, president; Jake Frey, Acadia Valley; George Sayle, Sexsmith; W. J. Hoppins, general manager.

F.U.A. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE WEEK

By Mrs. C. T. Armstrong, President F.W.U.A.

The week of November 11 to 16 has been declared F.U.A. Membership-drive Week. This is an open invitation for ALL farm people to renew their membership or become a new member in their own organization. It is through our own efforts that we enjoy the privilege of working together for those things which we need as an agricultural group. It is in our own organization that we can discuss the pros and cons of matters that are of vital concern to us as farm people. While our men are busy with such things as all phases of marketing farm products, and pertinent matters related to proper farm practices and animal husbandry; we women are interested in the things that affect the home and the family. For the farm woman who really wants to do something worthwhile for her family and her community, the Farm Women's Union of Alberta is the avenue through which she can make her wishes known and learn from other women just what they think about these particular matters. Here she will find that cut and dried opinion does not exist, but a free exchange of ideas which, when properly studied and worked over usually bring a democratic resolution which can be taken to the proper authorities and gain a fair hearing. Many organizations seek the support of the F.W.U.A. because they know that we have proven ourselves in the past and have the esteem of fair-minded people. It is for this reason that we must be diligent in keeping our associations close to the farm family, and only lend our support to ideals like our own.

The F.W.U.A. has a program which helps the locals to conduct an interesting meeting, and, of course we encourage the discussion of matters which affect the local community, so whether it is education, health, social welfare, planning a farmstead, or a picnic, or a dance or card party, your local is the place where you can meet and get things done.

Professional Body Urges Better Use of Halloween Masks

"Although Halloween can be a lot of fun for the kiddies, we've come recently to realize that it can be a hazardous evening for them too," Dr. J. D. Akitt, President of the Alberta Optometric Association stated today.

Optometry is concerned over the fact that many masks obscure vision.

"Unfortunately too many of the Goblins and Witches—particularly the little ones—are actually floundering from door to door and crossing busy streets under most difficult circumstances because their vision is obstructed due to ill-fitting insufficient facial disguises."

"In the interest of safety the Optometric profession urges parents to make sure their kiddies either have proper vision with their masks by enlarging the openings, or resort to the use of make-up.

While there are only a few trained persons who know how to apply and remove theatrical make-up," Dr. Akitt stated, "the elementary use of simple cosmetics is much preferable to a vision-limiting mask when we consider the hazards involved."

B of M Celebrates 140th Anniversary Nov. 3

Bankers throughout the Prairie Provinces and all of Canada will look back across 14 decades of history tomorrow to recall the beginning of the Canadian banking system; acknowledged everywhere as among the best in the world.

The date, November 3, marks the 140th anniversary of the foundation of the Bank of Montreal, Canada's first bank and the first permanent bank west of the Great Lakes.

On that day in 1817, a modest office opened for business in Montreal. The "Montreal Bank" earliest days, had a capital of $250,000 and was the creation of nine Montreal merchants who saw the need for banking facilities in the fledgling nation. It had a total staff of seven.

From their enterprise has grown the present Bank of Montreal, with 721 offices throughout the country, including 44 in Saskatchewan, 76 in Alberta and 33 in Manitoba, and with assets in excess of $2,700,000,000 and a staff of some 12,000 men and women.

When the B of M began operations, the population of Canada was about 500,000 and the Prairies had few human inhabitants except for Indians drifting after buffalo.

The B of M introduced Canada's first native currency immediately and within two weeks had opened its first branch. These two innovations, half a century before Confederation, were the beginnings of the Canadian financial structure and the Canadian system of branch-banking.

From those early developments, the bank grew as the nation grew. As the years passed, the bank spread its branches across the country.

The B of M office opened in Winnipeg in 1877 was the first permanent bank west of the Great Lakes. At that time, Winnipeg's population was numbered in the hundreds and the transportation industry was still represented by the horse, ox-cart and dog-draw.

Despite many popular misgivings as to the practicability of a transcontinental railway and the agricultural value of the lands between Manitoba and the Rockies, the bank placed its resources behind the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

In the opening of the west which followed, B of M branches went hand in hand with the pioneers and were established at key points from eastern sea to western at an early date.

The first Regina branch opened in 1882; that in Calgary in 1886.

HELPING TO BUILD A BETTER ALBERTA

Daughter saves mother's life on Canora farm

But for alertness of a teenage girl in a harvest accident at Canora, her mother would have been dead. Violet Svetleshnoff's mother was seconds away from strangulation after her neck snafw was caught in the shaft of a grain loader during harvest operations at the farm.

Violet, 16, released her mother from the machine and immediately applied artificial respiration, learned through Red Cross swimming lessons, and as soon as breathing was restored she called a doctor.

Mrs. Svetleshnoff received treatment in Canora overnight and was flown by air ambulance to Saskatoon where she is a patient in the University Hospital. Violet was given full credit by the Canora doctor for saving the life of her mother, Mrs. Nellie Svetleshnoff.

The case was regarded as unique in annals of Saskatchewan farm accidents and possibly in Saskatchewan's medical history. Mrs. Svetleshnoff was a split-second away from death when the rescue was effected. It is understood that her progress in hospital at Saskatoon is mainly dependent upon extent of injury to the brain she sustained in the mishap.—The Enterprise, Yorkton, Sask.—September 12, 1937.

SMILE OF THE WEEK

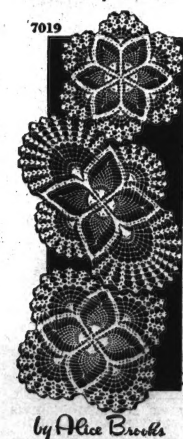

O'Flynn wasn't able to attend the funeral, but when it was over Rafferty told him all about it. The day had never been surpassed. Beautiful flowers accompanied the casket. The great and small all turned out. "But Flanagan," Rafferty paused quizzically, "Flanagan fell and broke his leg and cast gloom on the whole proceedings."

Rain storm quells Sentinel Mountain fire

Thanks to Tuesday's rain storm which arrived at the right moment to help the fire-fighters, Castlegar Ranger staff can relax somewhat from the tension and uproar of the past few days.

The 200-acre Sentinel Mountain fire, which afforded local residents a spectacular view in its rush up the mountain following the Monday afternoon break-through, can now be pronounced safely under control, according to Forest Ranger Hugh Woods.

Mr. Woods stated the fire which started Sunday afternoon, had been headed off and under control by Monday afternoon, when the wind suddenly started up causing the big "blow-up" of the fire, which sent it to the top and necessitated calling out all available men, including Celgar mill workers and crews brought in from Nelson.

At the height of the fire Mr. Woods said there were approximately 100 men fighting it and another 35 men on the night crew.

Some were laid off Tuesday night following the rain, and the fire was brought under control with about 25 men being left on duty to patrol the fire for a few days more.

Mr. Woods said a "cat" had been sent in from the far side of the Sentinel to build an access trail to the fire at the top. The cat had been a thoroughly difficult one to surround, as the hill is extremely steep and there was constant danger of rolling rocks, he said.

Residents of the district earned a word of commendation from the Ranger, who said many people had been in a thoroughly difficult position in the fire, and this spirit of co-operation and interest is appreciated.

As to the cause of the blaze Mr. Woods said "it like to get my hands on the careless hunter who dropped the burning cigarette responsible for all this trouble and destruction."

The Sentinel fire could have been paralleled Sunday by a second fire which started up the new Blueberry-Packton highway had it not been discovered while still small by J. Sherbiko and his son-in-law, N. Hewitt, who were on their way to the Sherbiko ranch.

A small crew was sent up to assist and the fire was soon put out.—The News, Castlegar, B.C.—September 19, 1937.

Please eat cheese

"Apple pie without some cheese is like a kiss without a squeeze." To prove the truth of this adage, the dairy industry is getting behind a drive to promote the annual "Cheese Festival" to encourage greater consumption of cheese in Canada.

Manitoba's dairy commissioner, C. H. P. Killick, points out that there is a cheese to suit every taste and most of the varieties are made right here in Canada. Canadians are most familiar with cheddar cheese or its derivatives made from cow's milk. But in Bohemia a cheese is made from sheep's milk; goats' milk is used in Germany; a mixture of goat and sheep's milk in Hungary. Cheese made from the milk of a reindeer is a delicacy in Norway and Sweden, while the milk of the buffalo produces cheese to please the taste of the gourmet in some parts of Italy.

Mr. Killick said that although Canadian cheddar is reputed to be the best in the world—our cheese was selling on the British market this spring for a premium as high as 20c a pound more than New Zealand, Australia and Great Britain—we are not large cheese eaters.

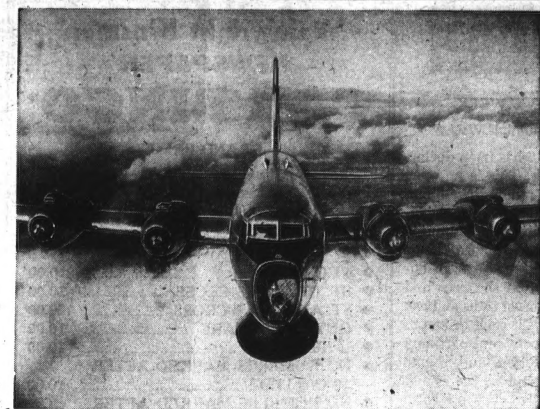

There is plenty to go around. Mr. Killick said that in Manitoba we make over a million pounds of cheddar cheese a year mostly from pasteurized milk, and over one and three-quarter million pounds of cottage and cream cheese.

The price of good Manitoba cheese is the same as it was six years ago, he said, and since it is extremely nutritious, Manitobans would do well to include more of it in their menus. He pointed out that with an increase in the consumption of cheese comes not only health to the people of Manitoba but a shot in the arm to the provincial economy.

COURTESY PAYS OFF

BEING 'NOSEY'—The RCAF's newest and largest aircraft, the Argus, produced for the Air Force by Canadian Ltd. of Montreal, is caught in this unusual view during flight tests. Scheduled to go into squadron operational service next year, it will be a valuable addition to the Air Force's anti-submarine element, flown by Maritime Air Command. The aircraft has been re-designed and re-engineered from the Bristol Britannia. Initial Argus is scheduled to be turned over to the RCAF and was christened on Monday, September 30, in a ceremony at the Canadian plant.—National Defence photo.

Newspaper of 1902 turns up in Watrous

Insulation is not a new commodity, in spite of claims made by advertisers in The Watrous Manitou! Insulation was used in the first house built in the Town of Watrous and as proof of this, Mrs. T. Rink brought in a sample on Saturday afternoon. The insulation referred to was a copy of the "Farm and Home" newspaper, published in Chicago, and it was found behind a chimney which was replaced at the Rink residence, 5th Ave. W. The house was built by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Koehler in 1908, and the label on the paper referred to was in the name of Mrs. Mary Koehler. This "Farm and Home" western edition was in its 23rd years of publication, and the copy which came to light in Watrous was dated May 15, 1902. It was a semi-monthly publication.

"Crack-shot" rifle, free!

In turning over the pages, the following items were noted: A "Crack-Shot" safety rifle was offered as a prize to persons who turned in 10 new subscriptions to The Farm and Home, regular price being 50c per year. Persons with "that tired feeling" were highly recommended to use Hood's Sassafras. The advertisement read, "Promises to cure and keeps a promise."

Split hickory vehicles

The "Farm and Home" carried many interesting articles, such as tips to farmers, dairymen, cooking, veterinary advice, fruit growers, etc. The latter showed improved methods for preparing spray mixtures for orchards. One sketch of this equipment included several barrels, three kegs, pressure tank on a steel-wheeled wagon, hand pump, hose, etc.; also, a platform and ladder. Elgin watches were advertised at the turn of the century; also, three-blade hand cultivators and weedeaters. Other items advertised were Deering farm machinery, Jones wagon scales and split hickory vehicles. The latter was offered on 30 days' free trial, with no cash payment. If purchasers found the vehicle to be the best on the market, then they would be expected to pay for same. 1902 model Mead bicycles were offered at $9 to $15 each, also on a 10-day free trial, and were shipped on approval.

Sugar, $2.95 per cwt.

Another popular line of that day was the Lydia E. Pinkham's vegetable compound. Sugar was advertised at $2.95 per cwt., also shipped without any money being involved. Steel roofing was offered at $2.25 per square, freight charges being paid by the advertiser. Of interest to outdoorsmen was an advertisement re sets of driving harness offered at $4.25 each, while top buggies could be purchased for $25.00. (Unlike motor equipment of today, there were no extras necessary with the purchase of a buggy, except a whip, and this was generally given away without charge when a purchase was made by his vehicle.)

$25,000 in gold!

Singo events had not been thought of in 1902, but one advertisement offered $25,000 in gold and prizes to winners in a great "Mystery of Life" counting contest. A plan of a house was of interest; and this showed the following rooms in the three-story structure: main floor, 16x14 ft.; sitting room, 12x11 ft.; chamber, 14x12 ft.; dining room, 14x12 ft.; man's bedroom, 10x8 ft.; kitchen, 14x12 ft.; fuel room; front porch, 10x8 ft.; back porch, 20x8 ft. The upstairs consisted of three large bedrooms and a bathroom. To top off the structure was an attic, 20x16 ft.

Featured in the "Farm and Home" were interesting articles entitled, "Are Death and Life a Mystery?", "A Rummage Romance", "A Chance to Make Money", and several others. Also, in connection with livestock, one item stated that the demand for beef had fallen off, while hog prices continued high.

Bicycles, $8.50 each

Marvelous improvements on the Edison phonographs were featured in another advertisement, while Sears-Roebuck offered bicycles at $8.95 each. A Chicago company offered these outstanding buys, wholesale to consumers, with all goods guaranteed or money refunded. 2 lbs. cornstarch, 10c; 5 lbs. soda, 25c; 2 lbs. finest shred coconut, 40c; 4-oz. lemon extract, 25c; 5 bars castile soap, 35c; 10 lbs. coffee, $2.99; 10 lbs. rolled oats, 15c; 2 pkgs. yeast, 2c.

If afflicted with weak eyes, persons were advised to use Thompson's eye water. The Pattern Dept. offered patterns for 10c each.—The Manitou, Watrous, Sask.—September 19, 1937.

NEW BAND SET-UP

The Humboldt Lions Junior Band is undergoing reorganization and will function in two separate groups during the winter months. There will be a Junior "A" group for older band members, and a Junior "B" group for beginners. It is hoped that the greater part of the "B" group will be added to the "A" group for the summer season.—The Journal, Humboldt, Sask.—September 12, 1937.

Manitoba getting second trans- Provincial route

Manitoba will have a second trans-Provincial highway on October 1 when historic No. 1 East and the Winnipeg-Portage stretch of No. 1 West will become part of No. 4 highway.

It will mean, said Hon. R. D. Robertson, public works minister, that the newly-designated No. 4, stretching from the Ontario boundary, near West Hawk Lake to the Saskatchewan border west of Russell, will be the longest of the two trans-provincial highways, covering a distance of 351 miles.

At the same time, the 303-mile-long Trans-Canada highway will be designated No. 1. This highway number is in use on the Trans-Canada in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Re-numbering by Manitoba will give the Trans-Canada the same designation from the Manitoba-Ontario border westward to the Pacific coast.

In addition to these route markers on the Trans-Canada, discussions are being held by the province, with federal authorities regarding having a uniform crest or symbol along the entire route of the Trans-Canada.

The new No. 4 consists of 273 miles of pavement, including a four-lane section from Winnipeg to Lockport; 39 miles of dirt surface from Newdale to Strathclair and from Foxwarren to Russell, and 38 miles of gravel. The new location of No. 4 between Shoal Lake and Foxwarren has just been opened for full traffic.

Skim milk imports under control

The Honourable Douglas S. Harkness, Minister of Agriculture, announced that the government had placed skim milk powder under import control as of midnight September 22. The price of skim milk powder in Canada has been supported at 17 cents per pound.

Under the influence of the support program imports have been heavy, with producers in other countries taking advantage of the support price. The stocks on hand as at September 1 were in excess of 27,000,000 pounds, the highest on record. In order to protect Canadian producers from the danger of the market being swamped by large supplies of imported milk powder the government has acted to apply control. Had imports continued at the current rate, the major part of the Canadian production would be going into the hands of the Agricultural Prices Support Board instead of directly onto the market.

Police are investigating this incident—according to the Hudson Bay Post, Sask. An unidentified man made himself at home in Mr. and Mrs. Leon Nixon's house, a yet unoccupied house at Reserve. He was discovered early this morning when Mr. Nixon went to investigate smoke coming from the chimney. The vagrant was busy making his breakfast after sleeping all night on the new bed.

When Mr. Nixon asked when the idea was, he blandly replied, "I'm going to live here." He had his possessions carefully tucked away in the dresser of the new bedroom suite and had his groceries all put away. Among his belongings was found a book which had been taken from Mr. Nixon's panel truck. The intruder was bodily removed by the scruff of the neck. He made his way across to the "mill side of town and was last seen in that area. The Sturgis detachment of the RCMP are investigating.

DANGEROUS MUSIC

Driving with the car radio turned on loudly may cause the driver to miss the sound of a train whistle or bell, or the warning horn of another car. A program that is not too soporific in effect may help to keep the driver alert on a long monotonous journey but it won't keep him alive if it muffles out the sounds he should hear.

OCTOBER 6, 1957 Good morning, neighbors:

Hitch hiking is not always the quickest way to get somewhere, comments the Innisfail Province. Alberta. That is what 12-year-old Alan Mitten of Red Deer found when he decided to hitch hike down to see his aunt, Mrs. Grant Field in Bowden. Alan's first hitch took him as far as the Bowden Boys' Institution, but when he tried to hitch from the Institution to Bowden, things began to get complicated. The occupants of the next car that stopped to give him a lift were superintendents from the Institution, and as he happened to be wearing blue jeans and a similar type of shirt that the boys wear, they were quite convinced that he was trying to escape. They took him to the Institution where they could find no record of him and after an hour's delay decided to check with the police in Innisfail. After a bit of investigation the police took Alan to Bowden, when they arrived at his aunt's house, there was no one in. Alan then told the police his uncle, Grant Field was in charge of the Alberta Wheat Pool Elevator so they took him along to be identified by his uncle. What happened to be up town having coffee, so they drew a blank there. As it happened all excepting Alan for Alan because the police, realizing that he knew his way around Bowden, were convinced that after all he was not an escapee. After hitch-hiking, Alan thinks he won't try it south of Red Deer again.

Police are investigating this incident—according to the Hudson Bay Post, Sask. An unidentified man made himself at home in Mr. and Mrs. Leon Nixon's house, a yet unoccupied house at Reserve. He was discovered early this morning when Mr. Nixon went to investigate smoke coming from the chimney. The vagrant was busy making his breakfast after sleeping all night on the new bed. When Mr. Nixon asked when the idea was, he blandly replied, "I'm going to live here." He had his possessions carefully tucked away in the dresser of the new bedroom suite and had his groceries all put away. Among his belongings was found a book which had been taken from Mr. Nixon's panel truck. The intruder was bodily removed by the scruff of the neck. He made his way across to the "mill side of town and was last seen in that area. The Sturgis detachment of the RCMP are investigating.

Maybe the intruder didn't get away—and as the Binscarth Express, Man., states: It is a well-known fact among fishermen that it is always the big one that gets away. Morton and Jimmy Orr are prepared to vouch for this, but in their case the big one took the small ones along with it. While fishing at Silver Beach on Sunday they got three average sized Pike which they strung on the fish chain on the side of the boat. Then the big fellow was caught and, while it was difficult to read the scales, it was thought to weigh between 10 and 12 pounds. It was fastened to the chain and this must have proved too much for the chain which came away from the boat and all four fish, fastened together, departed from the scene. Dragging operations continued until Morton and Jimmy were nearly frozen, but no luck.

"Unlucky" is generally attributed to the figure 13—states the Watrous Manitou, Sask.—but not so with Mr. C. Pleier, who came from Humboldt some few years ago, to take over the former Stephenson Jewellery Store. Mr. Pleier appears to select numbers containing the figures 13 without hesitation. To start with he selected a charming lady for his wife whose birthday is on November 13. On moving to Watrous, Mr. Pleier found his place of business was described as "113 Main Street". More recently, Mr. and Mrs. Pleier took up residence in Biggar and the first night they spent in that town was in a hotel room, No. 13. Then, they bought a house, and the number is 213.

Just how lucky can a person be anyway—asks Mrs. A. J. Stewart in the Carleton Place, Man. Three years ago George Bergman of St. Anne lost his wrist watch at the Ste. Anne Fair. This year on Ste. Anne Fair Day, his watch was restored to him. Young Henry Vandale found it near the cattle shed on the exhibition grounds. George wound up the time piece and away it went, ticking as smoothly as it did three years ago.

The figure three reminds us of this unusual item in the Hanna Herald, Alta. The boy's production line is working overtime on the farm of Willis Love in the Oyen district. A roan Shorthorn cow owned by George Northbrook has given birth to three sets of twins within two years.

Speaking of animal births, the Carleton Place, Alta., reports that another two-faced kitten was born on the A. Eliertson farm recently. It was born to the mother cat which had given birth to a similar kitten in the spring.

A rather unusual cat story is told by Mrs. H. Spence, correspondent of the North Battleford News-Oriental, who writes—"Top this one if you can. We have a cat who enjoys eating corn on the cob."

If the cat would like some bread with it, we see by the Woodworth Times, Man., that Mrs. Butchart of the Verity district has started baking her own bread. When she took the first batch out of the oven, young Jimmie said, "Dad, I can't varnish the top like Auntie Ann does."

And how's this for an outstanding high job—reports the Canadian, Alberta. From the garden of Mr. and Mrs. John Slikstrom in the Dinan district, the Verity district has started dill pickles—which we think is really good.

And speaking of canning, the Boston Recorder, Man., reports that one afternoon recently, a group of ladies representing various districts called at the Lyle Pierce home loaded with fruit pickles and preserves. Knowing that Phyllis hadn't been able to do canning during the preserving season, the ladies undertook to do it for her, even to putting it in the shelves.

During to the World of Sport—the World Series is quite interesting, but the Maidstone Mirror, Sask., thinks that its district has set a record, which will be hard to match in the years to come. Three Provincial ball championships have been recently won by the three neighboring towns of Paynton, Maidstone and Lashburn. Paynton Pats won the Men's Senior "B" Baseball; Maidstone Comets the Ladies Senior "B" Softball Championship; and Lashburn Linnets, the Little League Baseball.

Three championships is something to holler about. Which reminds us of this story going the rounds of the papers. As a celebrated soprano began to sing, little Johnnie was greatly taken by the gustifications of the orchestra conductor. "What's that man shaking his stick at her for," he asked. "Sh-h! He's not shaking his stick at her." But Johnnie was not convinced. "Then what is she hollering for?"

Here's something for a chicken holler about. The Davidson Leader, Sask., states: Linda Palmer showed us the product of one of her hens—a 4-yolk egg—yes, 4 yolks in one shell. Linda thought the egg was extra large when she saw it, so she broke it in a jar, and sure enough, 4 yolks. Subscribers are asked to keep this issue of The Leader away from their flock of chickens in case they read it and work themselves to death.

But we would like to hope that all our good neighbors could have read this item in the Swift Current Sun, Sask., which states:

One of the kindest donations which has come to the Prairie Pioneer Lodge's fund-drive since it opened a couple of weeks ago came from a man who has only a thin tie with the community. Frank G. Lugin (an old-age pensioner) whose permanent residence is in Regina, and who has been temporarily employed as a stationary engineer at the local horse-processing plant, turned over a sum of money to ways and means chairman Bill Brown prior to leaving for the Capital City last weekend. "I have been employed in Swift Current," Mr. Lugin said, "and I feel obliged to leave some of it behind in such a good cause." He also left a donation for the swimming pool fund.

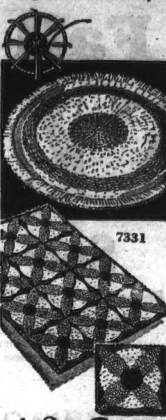

And when we learn from the Wetaskiwin Times, Alta., that "Dad" Harris of Wetaskiwin who was one of the many recipients of the Government Oil Royalty, immediately turned his share over to the Wetaskiwin Klansmen Club to assist that organization in their efforts to better recreational facilities for the children of Wetaskiwin district.

From young children, we turn to young adults who recently celebrated birthday anniversaries in the 90-and-over class. William Vanhorn of Calgary, 91—Grandfather of the Balzac district, Alta., also 94—William Forsyth, formerly of Pipestone, Man., now in Brandon, 85.

Hearty congratulations to you old timers, and congratulations also to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Petty formerly of Paynton, Sask., now living in Victoria, B.C., on the occasion of their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

We will leave our Big Vegetable Report until later—when all returns are in. For our final item this morning we turn to the Pincher Creek Echo, Alta., for this story: A housewife was still sitting at the breakfast table, having her fifth cup of coffee and trying to decide whether to get dressed, wash the dishes, watch television, or just go back to bed. She heard the garbage man outside, and dashed through the back door, her hair in curlers, face unmade, and wrinkled old bathrobe askew to ask him if she was too late for the garbage. The old garbage man took one look and said, "No man, just jump right up on the load!"
